FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials at the Office of the Attorney General (AGO) assume this proposal allows the AGO to bring an action to recover civil penalties for the state. AGO assumes it would need one Assistant Attorney General I to assist with referrals, coordinate investigations and bring any necessary actions pursuant to the proposal.

Officials at the Office of the Secretary of State (SOS) assume that the cooperative associations to be filed under this section would have otherwise filed as corporations or limited liability companies if this legislation was not in existence; therefore, the impact to TSR is expected to be minimal as the loss of revenue from the elimination of the requirement for corporate registration reports to be filed either annually or biennially would be offset by the slight difference between the filing fee for corporations (average of approximately $70 per origination filing for a corporation) and cooperative associations ($105). An estimate of the number of businesses electing to form cooperative associations cannot be accurately determined.

Because this appears to be a new type of business entity (not a corporation, a limited liability company or a cooperative under Chapter 357) with unique filing requirements and fees, the SOS would need to have computer programming completed on the existing (KB) system used to process business entity filings and on the new (SystemWORKS) processing system to be implemented in November 2011 in order to be able to process the filings for cooperative associations. The cost is projected to be $30,000.

Oversight assumes that it is unclear how many businesses will elect to form a cooperative association and therefore, Oversight assumes that the Office of the Attorney General can absorb the duties of this proposal with existing resources. Should the AGO experience a measurable increase in its workload as a direct result of this proposal, then it can request additional FTE in future budget requests.
